How To Get The Extra Help You Need To Stay In Your Own Home And Avoid A Long-Term Care Facility

There are a number of different programs in California that can help individuals with disabilities and/or seniors remain in their home, or help them return home from a long-term care facility (including hospitals, nursing homes, and other medical facilities).¹

Home and Community-Based (HCBS) Waivers

A Home and Community-Based Services (HCBS) waiver is a special Medi-Cal program that waives certain Medi-Cal rules so that people can live at home instead of living in a facility. First, the waivers use the same Medi-Cal rules for counting income and property that are used for people living in a facility. This makes it possible for married people to live at home together and for minor children to live at home with their parents without having their spouse's or parents' income and property deemed to be their own income and property. Second, additional services are available under the waivers that are not ordinarily available under the regular Medi-Cal program for people living at home. This means that Medi-Cal beneficiaries can receive the services they need at home instead of having to go to a facility to receive them.

There are a variety of different HCBS Waivers including: Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) Waiver; Assisted Living Pilot Program Waiver (ALWPP); Home and Community-Based Services Waiver for the Developmentally Disabled (HCBS-DD); Nursing Facility/Acute Hospital (NF/AH) Waiver; and the Multi Purpose Senior Services Waiver (MSSP).

¹ If you have questions about any of these programs, or need assistance getting services, in addition to the information in this fact sheet, you can contact Disability Rights California Toll Free: (800) 776-5746 or TTY: (800) 719-5798. You can also visit our website at www.disabilityrightsca.org
