RE: SB 214 (Dodd) as introduced February 6, 2019 – SPONSOR AND SUPPORT

Dear Senator Pan:

Disability Rights California (DRC), a non-profit advocacy organization that advances and protects the rights of Californians with disabilities, supports SB 214, which we are co-sponsoring with East Bay Innovations.

SB 214 assures continuation of the successful California Community Transitions Program (CCT), which has assisted more than 3,500 individuals in moving out of a nursing home and into their own home or other community setting.

In January 2007, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) awarded California a grant under the Money Follows the Person (MFP) demonstration. California established CCT to help people who want to transition out of institutional living. There are three key segments. Pre-transition involves identifying people who would like to move, determining if necessary supports are available in the community, and undertaking the preparations needed to insure a move can happen.

Preparations include home modification, first and last month rent, utilities, buying food and household supplies, and more. Pre-transition preparation is individualized to the needs of each person, aimed at making sure the move will be successful. After the transition itself, CCT provides up to a full year of follow-up support so that the adjustment is as smooth as possible.

CCT has successfully demonstrated the State is able to accomplish three goals simultaneously: (1) Medi-Cal beneficiaries living in skilled nursing institutions for longer than 90 days can be transitioned back into community living; (2) California can comply with the Olmstead decision requiring the State to enable people with disabilities to live in the most integrated setting possible; and (3) the State can realize savings since community living is more cost effective for the State.

MFP had a federal sunset of December 31, 2018. Despite efforts to secure federal or state funding before the end of 2018, agencies performing transition services had to begin planning for loss of the program. Some have laid off staff or eliminated transition services altogether because of the uncertainty of the federal funding. The modest extension recently approved by the federal government gives us optimism for more federal funding but that is far from certain. Even without federal funding, the state has an obligation to comply with Olmstead, and, through CCT, a cost-effective way to do so.

It has been suggested that the Home & Community-Based Alternatives Waiver (HCBA) provides a substitute for CCT. This is not true. The waiver is neither appropriate nor adequate for many individuals who would be eligible for CCT.

For these reasons, we sponsor and support this bill. Please contact me if you have any questions about our position on this bill.

Sincerely,
